SHOREHAM TODAY

So this is Shoreham. It's a very quiet place on week days. You can swim and sleep and sleep and swim, - we don't mean simultaneously, of course. But week-ends, there is an entirely different matter.

The climax of the week-end usually comes with the Saturday night dance at the Club. We use the word "dance" only out of courtesy to those few who go to them and still manage to behave as if they had not just escaped from King's Park. After using soda bottles as nine-pins and oranges as balls, we are afraid to think what "this younger generation" will do next. Another thing that seems to have become fashionable at the Club is for the dancers, particularly our up and coming young men, to spend as much time as possible sitting on the floor in any position as long as it isn't comfortable.

Which reminds us that if you want to be comfortable the floats out in front of the Club are hardly a good place to choose for the motto of Shoreham's male population seems to be, Women and children first when it comes to throwing people into the water. Rubber bathing suits, by the way, usually land there the fastest. If you happen to be drowning in the vicinity of the large float, someone will probably throw you one of the life-savers and you will be brought safely to the raft unless it unfortunately hits you on the head, in which case we wish you luck. If you carelessly choose some other spot on the water to drown in, there is always the "Village of Shoreham" waiting to rescue you.

All in all we think that the mood of Shoreham is best expressed, in more ways than one, in the tune of the horn on one of our neighbor's cars which can be heard sounding, "How dry I am", every once in a while.

SHOREHAM 25 YEARS AGO

Our present store wasn't built until 1910 so that in 1909 the only store available was near the station, on the present site of the Catholic Church. It wasn't much of a store. The butcher from Wading River used to come around two or three times a week to your door and cut you off some lamb chops or a porterhouse steak. Mr. Major from Wading River would arrive on horseback with polished riding boots and prancing steed and take your orders for Long Island ducks. They were good ducks too.

The one and only general meeting place in those days (other than the beach) was the Shoreham Inn which was only torn down a few years ago. Its spacious veranda and cozy bar attracted all the people in the community who were at all sociably inclined. It seems as though folks knew how to enjoy themselves better with very little in those days. There were dances in the dining room of the inn. A three piece orchestra from Port Jefferson or Bridgeport cost $10. A collection was taken up to pay the expense. There was no charge for the use of the room. The inkeeper was satisfied with the increased patronage and was famous for his food and drinks. So everyone was happy.

The beach of those days was little different than it is today except that the bluff along the beach has fallen away to a considerable extent. In those days one could search the beach in both directions as far as the eye could see and not find a soul except those at Shoreham. There were no picnic parties nor other casual intruders into the glorious seclusion of this retreat.

Shoreham twenty-five years ago was not the garden spot that it is today. It was then just emerging from the state of being cleared land from a semi abandoned

EUROPEAN GARDEN LECTURE

CLUB MEMBERSHIP

At this time the club has more members than ever before, but the club needs more members in order to defray operating expenses. Heretofore, dues have been as high as $100. a year - and only recently $55. a year. The club is trying an experiment of $10. a year for family membership based on all desirable families becoming members. Each present member can help the club and himself by securing another member so the low dues may be maintained if possible. Look over the list of Paid Members and if there is a neighbor or friend not on this list, get his membership immediately.

FIRST HOUSE BUILT ON NEW DEVELOPMENT

Construction on the first house to be built on the new Barnes site was started last Monday. The house is being constructed by Charles Dahl and is being made of brick. The house is to be built for Mr. R. B. Williams of New York City. The first lots to be portioned off, the Shore Front lots, have already been sold.

farm and woodland. In many parts the clearing had been so thorough that it resembled a sheared sheep. In other parts the scrub oak continued to flourish. It took considerable time for the community to definitely establish its character, i.e. whether it should revert altogether to its natural ruggedness or put on a coat of cultivation.

Editor of the Shoreham Scribe:

In your issue of July 6th, you state that it was "a" Mr. Thompson who first inaugurated "The Big Parade", the ball game and the athletic competitions for the Fourth of July at Shoreham. May I correct you by stating that it was not just "a" Mr. Thompson. It was William J. Thompson, affectionately known to all of the old timers as "Will" Thompson. He was Village President in 1915-1916 and served as a Village Trustee until his death on March 17th, 1923. He was one of the incorporators of and the outstanding leading spirit in starting and maintaining the Shoreham Country Club and served as President of the Club until he died. He owned and lived in the house now owned by Mrs. James Wall Finn. The name of the street leading to that house was, after his death, changed, out of affectionate regard for his memory, to Thompson Street. The unselfish devotion of Will Thompson to our community in its infancy and until his death has been (and may it continue) an inspiration to others to try to help to make Shoreham a pleasant place to sojourn.

FLASH, FLASH, FLASH,

The unearthly noises issuing from the region of the "Hut" on the Hughes' property were the sounds of great conflict and the Knights of the Red Garter, the Elf Men and the Goona Goonas and The Little Hawks were having it out. The entanglement was so complete, it is impossible to gather who won and whose side. It ended on the beach, the Knights and the Elf Men having more weight back of their arguments, held their choice places by the fire, while the Goona Goonas and the Hawks kept a chilly, respectful distance, in the dark. Perhaps there'll be a truce soon and we'll all get some sleep.

After A. W. Varian had heatedly expressed his opinion of radios in automobiles while motoring to New York with Cary D. Waters, he discovered the radio he heard was in their own car.

Drink with impunity, or anybody that invites you - Artemus Ward.

To the Editor:

TREASON

Why, we ask, should there be a curfew at the Shoreham Country Club at 2:30 P.M. The younger set considers themselves deprived of their constitutional rights and wish to lodge a strong protest against such high-handed "nurse-maiding". Never before in the history of this distinguished community have the "blue-noses" been able to hamper the amusements of the "bon vivants".

Are we men or are we sissies?
Signed, "Six A.M."

"Babs" Eddy was seen last Saturday night at the Club Shipwreck Dance sitting contentedly in a corner eating oranges.

On Friday, July 27th, Miniature Players will present two plays at the Country Club. The girls are rehearsing under the direction of Mrs. H. F. Hughes and the boys under the direction of Mr. C. Robert Kase.
