DEEP-SEA FISHING

No one who loves the sea and real sea and real sea fishing as the fishermen know it should neglect to take one or two deep-sea fishing trips each season. Many take more. At New Suffolk, Montauk, and other shore settlements may be found reliable skippers with good safe boats who specialize in taking out parties. Many of them, if their craft is large enough for a galley and a stove, will prepare a delicious fish chowder for the noon-day meal. At Montauk dock a fleet of at least forty fine boats are available and at New Suffolk almost as many. At Montauk the charge for a full day's fishing is only two dollars a person, including ordinary bait. You can rent tackle for a trifle, so you don't need to bring a line or a hook.

THIS IS LONG ISLAND

Meade C. Dobson

AREA: Long Island consists of the County of Kings (Borough of Brooklyn, New York City); the County of Queens (Borough of Queens, New York City); and the Counties of Nassau and Suffolk. The total area is 1,682 square miles - larger than Rhode Island and almost as large as Delaware. It fronts for 127 miles on the Atlantic Ocean, with its northern shore bordered by Long Island Sound and the East River. POPULATION: Approximately 4,339,400 people now live on Long Island. Constituting $32\frac{1}{2}$ per cent of the total population of the entire State of New York, it exceeds that of every city in the United States with the exception of New York City. Only eight States in the U. S. have a greater population, and New Jersey, with an area

To the Editor
Shoreham Scribe
Dear Sir;

The writer, having just returned from a two weeks motor trip to North Carolina, ventures a brief description of the trip, in the belief that it may inspire any who have not enjoyed it to take the first opportunity to do so.

We covered 2600 miles and most of it was thru the most beautiful mountain scenery in Eastern America. The route was as follows: Route 202 in Jersey crossing the Delaware River at Lambertville to route 30 which we followed west thru Pennsylvania to Gettysburg. After Gettysburg we were in the mountains continuously, crossing South Mt. still on route 30 to Chambersburg and Bedford, Pa. There we turned south on 220 to Cumberland, Keyser, and Redhouse, crossing Backbone Mt., the highest in Maryland, with superb views. This took us across from 220 to 219, which we followed south past Sulphur Springs to Princeton and Bluefield, West Virginia.

Corn and Tobacco are the chief and often only crops thru here. The houses are huts and most of them have never known paint. Next to corn and tobacco, children seem to be the most in evidence, tho God only knows how they live.

From Bluefield, we followed route 19 over Clinch Mt. to Lebanon and then west on 64 across more mountains into Kentucky, and on south from Lynch and Cumberland to Middlesboro, which is either in Kentucky, Tennessee, or West Virginia. (I still can't figure out which !)

From here we crossed Pinnacle Mt. into Tennessee where we lost another hour, only to regain it after passing thru Morristown and Newport (258) and 25W into North Carolina and Asheville, our objective - about 950 miles.

We drove to Lake Eden at Black Mt. about 15 miles East of Asheville. The trip thru the Park itself is thrilling and on top of Clingman's Dome (6640 feet elevation) you are only a little below the highest peak East of the Rocky Mts. This honor goes to Mt. Mitchell near Little Switzerland in the Black Mt. section, one of the most beautiful spots of all.

The Mt. Pisgah trip, about 50 miles from Asheville, is another you can't afford to miss.

Of course for the big game fish like swordfish, tuna and marlin you require a specially equipped boat of which many are available and by making up a party of four or five the cost is distributed. Here again the skipper provides everything in tackle and bait.

In August and remaining until after the Army and Navy game comes the ravaging blue raiders of the Atlantic - the bluefish. This terrific scrapper makes men forget their wives, their children, their business - for, pound for pound, inch for inch, the bluefish is rated as the gamest that swims.

It is a maxim of the sea - where currents meet, you will find the fish. Off Montaul Point the foaming waters of Block Island Sound race joyously to meet the restless tides of the Atlantic Ocean. The junction of these mighty flows produce what is known as a giant "tide up". Even when the sea is like a flickering sheet of liquid glass these forces are at play beneath the surface. Sweeping great schools of tiny silvery bait fish into its eddies and currents to be gobbled by great game fish which lurk in the depths.

In May those big thirty and forty pound pollack come racing down from Labrador to fatten themselves on great schools of squid and baby herring. June brings the cruising broadbill swordfish to flail the vast hordes of mackerel gorging themselves off Montaulk historic lighthouse. Like destroyers accompanying battleships come blackfish, porgies, sea bass, and fluke with the swordfish to literally cover or carpet the ocean bottom.

Last Saturday evening at the Shoreham Country Club Miss Barbara Peck and Mr. Randall D. Warden Jr. were the featured entertainers presented by Mrs. T. K. Elliott.

THE MISSING LYNX IN WADING RIVER

We were afraid that the Wading River Mystery was on the wane, but now a new theory has been advanced. In a letter to Mr. William L. Miller, whose name he had seen in the newspapers in connection with the big mystery, Mr. J. R. Lecours, a Canadian Pacific Railway agent of Heron Bay, Ontario, says that he is convinced that Wading River's "Thing" is a lynx. He says that from the descriptions of the sound is unmistakably that of a Canadian lynx. He says the lynx cries when hungry and when attempting to scare up a rabbit. He describes the cry as being like that of a dying man.

Mr. Lecours has given us something else for our imaginations to toy with. We had been hoping that sooner or later some serious-minded citizen would advance the theory that "IT" might be an elephant. Quite possible, you know. It might hide in a tree during the day and no one would ever be able to find it. It might be that it is constantly being chased by a mouse, which causes it to scream with terror during the night. All sorts of possibilities, you know.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Since the arrival on Thursday of Mr. Paul Vermylen in Shoreham, the Goona-Goona Trio has been completed. The members, Mr. James O'Brien, Mr. Paul Vermylen, and Mr. Thomas Hughes announce their policies for the coming year, says Mr. O'Brien "X-#8-1435?258-XX", and wishes to warn all other contingents - The Knights of The Red Garter, The Elves, and The Hawk Men - to be mighty careful of their conduct during the next few weeks.

In answer to many inquiries, the Scribe is mimeographed by the editor and his Scribes at the Scribory in Shoreham, N. Y.

SHOREHAM GARDEN CLUB

Thursday, August 13th, the Shoreham Garden Club will hold an executive committee meeting at 10:45.

At 11:15 will be held a general committee meeting including all chairmen of the Garden Party, who are requested to come prepared to give a report of plans.

There will be a lecture at 2:30 of the same day at the Shoreham Country Club. Mrs. Martha Pratt will speak on "What the Judge Expects of the Exhibitor".

Tickets are already selling, in charge of Mrs. A. W. Varian, for Shoreham's second Garden Club Garden Party to be held on the lawn of Mrs. Cary D. Waters home, August 22. Plans are on foot for many attractive features which should make their appeal to all comers.

six times larger, has a population of approximately 146,000 less than that of Long Island. According to Federal estimates of July, 1933, Long Island's population was: Brooklyn, 2,653,000; Queens, 1,183,400; Nassau, 333,300; Suffolk, 169,700.

A TREASURER ISLAND: Assessed realty valuations of Long Island amount to approximately seven and a half billion dollars. For the assessable year 1934-35 it was $7,471,248,020. Long Island's valuation is almost equal to that of both the adjoining States of Connecticut and New Jersey and exceeds the combined valuation of sixteen States. It represents 27.1 per cent of the entire valuation of the State of New York. For the taxable year 1934-35 the actual valuation is: Brooklyn, $3,933,060,440; Queens, $2,145,327,968; Nassau, $1,103,318,283, and Suffolk, $289,541,329.

INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE: Brooklyn and Queens together form one of the largest industrial centers in the United States. Products valued at more than $737,393,030 in 1933 were manufactured by 5,294 establishments. In the four counties on Long Island 53,549 retail establishments in 1933 had net sales of $955,624,000, had 80,404 full time employees and paid wages totaling $104,140,000.

On Sunday, August 9th, Mr. and Mrs. F. K. M. Hunter will leave Lakehurst on the von Hindenburg for Frankfort-on-the-Main. They have arranged to drop a champagne bottle, emptied, of course, into the Sound with a message for the Scribe. Bon Voyage!

WADING RIVER CIVIC ASSOCIATION MEETS

SWING IT!

The Wading River Civic Association held its annual meeting last Friday, July 31st, in the school auditorium. The officers and directors elected for the coming year are: president, Lester M. Emmett; vice-president, William L. Miller; secretary-treasurer, Edwin S. Lapham; directors, Lester M. Emmett, Hon. Henry W. Herbert, Albert M. Howell, Dr. Dorothy C. Kempf, Edwin S. Lapham, Walter Lippmann and William L. Miller.

Mr. George W. Hildreth, of Riverhead, who is vice-president for Suffolk County of the Long Island Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the Committee on Ports and Waterways of that organization, spoke at the meeting. He discussed the work of the Chamber in connection with the improvement of waterways throughout Long Island. His remarks were particularly appropriate in view of the fact that the association has since its organization last year been deeply interested in providing a harbor or suitable inlet for small boats at Wading River.

WADING RIVER FIELD & TENNIS CLUB ANNUAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The Wading River Field & Tennis Club tennis Tournament began this week-end. In the preliminary matches, Victor Heatley and Samuel Carter defeated Raymond Howell and Myron Keillor on Saturday at the Keillor court; Russell Meier and Edward Bachmann Jr. defeated Leonard Mayer and George W. Heatley Jr.; and Philip Gregory and William Meier defeated last year's champions, Jesse Heatley and William E. Miller on Sunday at the Split Rock court.

The Song Service this Sunday evening will be led by Mr. Edward F. Stevens at the Shoreham Country Club.

Four hundred women and two hundred men dancing instructors, from every state in the union and from Canada and Mexico, are attending the fifty-third annual convention of the Dancing Masters of America, Inc. at the Hotel Roosevelt.

Although all types of dancing are exhibited and taught, this year's ballroom steps are attracting much attention due to the definite trend to the swing steps. They, of course, originated in the eastern colleges and Prep schools, strengthened by the Astaire motion pictures.

The open steps are less in evidence, being replaced by the cross steps done in closed or waltz position, and with the introduction of the swing, a far more graceful and gay dance is achieved than the jazz of the recent past. The so-called swing steps are done from the hip in various combinations giving a softer, smoother gait than heretofore.

It is noticeable that many more men are interested in dancing of late, owing to the influence of Fred Astaire, who is being copied everywhere. This fact and the ease with which the new steps can be applied to all rhythms -- foxtrot, waltz and tango -- should promise crowded ballrooms this winter. Now is the time to learn how.

The Biltmore Industries in Asheville are most interesting to visit and see the beautiful homespun cloths made on the hand looms.

The current issue of the National Geographic has an article on this region of much interest.

Of most interest on the return trip were the Endless Caverns at Newmarket, Va. The Skyway Drive (open for 35 miles) in Shenandoah National Park is an achievement of first rank and affords magnificent scenic views, but we were spoiled by the Smokies and no longer raved!

We came home by route 40 instead of route 1 spending a night in delightful old Newcastle at the Van Dyke house, with its exquisite colonial furnishings and charming host and hostess.

Of course the time to visit North Carolina is in June, when the mountains are resplendent with the blooms of wild Azalea, Mountain Laurel, and the Rhododendrons all in their native haunts. Here Rhododendrons reach unbelievable size climbing up in great trees from the gorges and growing in more profusion than poison ivy in Shore ham! But let no one be hindered from going in summer. We slept under two or more blankets nearly every night.

Rock garden lovers will find the beautiful Shortia Galaxifolia growing in profusion in N. C. and many other lovely rock plants throughout these mountains.

YES, WE HAVE NO BANANAS

Did you know that the banana furnishes a supply of food substance superior to that of wheat or any other product of the soil? Few people suspect the nutritive value, health value and medicinal properties, of the banana. This is not a luxury fruit but a very important food commodity. It is a staple food in many hot countries.

Weight for weight, the banana has the same food value as meat. It is three times more nourishing than wheat bread. Eminent medical authorities recommend it for people of all ages, from the first month of life to extreme old age. It was once erroneously believed to be indigestible. Naturally, care must be used in selecting the fruit. If the skin is too evenly colored it is likely to be under-ripe. Choose rather the banana with a speckled skin, well ripened.
