FIFTEEN CENTS

Loper Bros. Are Celebrating 50th Year in Business

On March 12, 1889, two brothers, Gilbert L. and Arthur G. Loper, started their business careers by erecting a planing mill on West Broadway, Port Jefferson. The business was looked on in those days as an ambitious project, a local industry, yet it was but half of their business, for these men were also building contractors. The Loper brothers had served as apprentices under the guiding eye of their father, a carpenter.

At this time, Port Jefferson's principal industry was shipbuilding. No careless builder could give the marine men the kind of snug homes they desired. The brothers took more satisfaction in the praise of a well completed job than in the actual profit made. This spirit of service quickly won them public confidence, and the name "Loper Bros." became the stamp of approval in construction.

The operations of this firm became so extensive that they were forced to build a larger mill and to establish a lumber yard and hardware store on West Broadway in Port Jefferson.

Change in the transportation of lumber had something to do with the change of the main yard from the harbor to its present site at Port Jefferson Station. Almost all the lumber was carried on sailing vessels and it was necessary to have the mill and yard near the dock. Now the mill and yard are located where a siding from the railroad is available. Quite a bit of lumber is also shipped on trucks directly from New York City.

Recognizing an opportunity for service, Loper Bros. established a branch yard and hardware store at Rocky Point in 1931, due to this colony's rapid advancement. While the branch yard offers to the people of that section facilities that cover most demands, the main yard, but a few miles away, ren-

Mid-week Dance

Miss Jantzer's dancing class was held as usual last Wednesday night. She began the fundamental steps of the rumba and the shag. The former of these dances has never been attempted before by Miss Jantzer's Junior Assembly class.

An addition to this Junior Assembly was Master Christopher Birch, who arrived when he heard from Mrs. Sherman that "More men were needed,"—telling Miss Jantzer that he had just "brezed down." This is Cricker's story, but we understand that all this haste was caused when he heard that some other gentlemen had taken his girl to the dance.

Mrs. A. W. Barnhart was the hostess at the party which followed, assisted by Mrs. John Bates and Miss Barbara Davis. The winners of the balloon dance were Rene Laurenot and Barbara Sarkany. Louise Glynn and Jean Sarkany won the lucky number dance, and the spotlight dance was won by Christopher Birch and Louise Glynn. The serving of refreshments and dancing finished the party.

"World Tour Follies" Starts Tonight

Proceeds of Musical Review for Mather Memorial Hospital

This year the Charity League of the North Shore is giving the proceeds of their musical show, "World Tour Follies" to the John T. Mather Memorial Hospital, Port Jefferson.

Seventeen years before his death, Mr. Mather, a member of a shipbuilding family of Port Jefferson, foresaw the need for a modern hospital in this community, and planned accordingly. He left his fortune to build and equip the entire hospital, which is run by a partial endowment.

The building, designed by Harry C. Pelton, opened its doors on December 31, 1929. During the nine years of its existence, there have been 10,397 patients admitted, 1,148 births, and there are 54 employees, and a well-equipped ambulance.

This hospital has been graded A-1 by the State Welfare Department, approved by the American Surgeons, and by the New York State Medical Association.

Mr. Forrest Raynor is president of the board of trustees. The medical board consists of Drs. James McIvor, president; Frank Child, Frederick L. McCree, John Renwick, and Myrtle DeYoung, superintendent of the hospital.

The community is very fortunate in having such a modern hospital, and since, like other such organizations, this depression has made it very hard to carry on their high standards, it is very commendable that the proceeds of this show be given to this institution.

Haslett's Two Exhibits Are Quite Unusual

John W. Haslett, secretary to Comptroller Joseph D. McGoldrick, president of the Shoreham Country Club, has come up with two of the best exhibits in the City Building at the World's Fair and quite unusual in a display of the Comptroller which might be expected to be numerical—and dull.

Under glass he exhibits an old city bond, dated 1865, issued—and the face of it says so—to defray the expenses of New York City troops fighting in the Civil War.

The other treasure he has unearthed is a certificate issued for the purchase of the land which we now know as Central Park. At that time the land was bought by the acre; today the city would not sell a foot at any price.

Garden Club to Hear Lecture on 'Garden Lighting'

The beautiful Pallister garden is to be a most fitting place for the next meeting of the Shoreham Garden Club which is to be held Friday night, July 28, at 8:45 o'clock. This meeting is to be a lecture on "Garden Lighting" sponsored by the Long Island Lighting Co. This garden lighting is something quite new, in fact, only started last summer, is particularly

Feature Night at Country Club Last Sat. Night A Complete Success

Balloon Dance, Lucky Number Dance, Leap Year Dance Supply Excitement

Last Saturday night was a feature night at the Shoreham Country Club. The balloon dance caused much excitement and much noise. The number of couples simmered down to two—these were the Beattys and the Barnharts. Seeing that neither could break the other's balloon, they changed partners. Dancing like this for a few minutes, neither couple was able to become victor. They decided to call a halt to the contest, and when they were resting on the railing at the foot of the stage, Mrs. Beatty's balloon popped out of a clear sky. This left Mr. George Beatty and Mrs. Al Barnhart the winners.

After this fray, the lucky number dance was announced. After dancing for a long time, the only couple left on the floor was Dr. Max Finn and Mrs. Haslett. The prizes for both these contests were given to the chairman, Mrs. A. W. Varian. The prizes were obtained from the Mayflower Gift Shop in Port Jefferson and were ash trays for the men, a decorative gourd set for Mrs. Barnhart, and a pocketbook for Mrs. Haslett.

The next feature was a leap year dance. This dance was requested by the fair sex of Shoreham, but when the men were lined up ready to be chosen imagine their consternation as the music started and not one lady left her seat. The most surprised was the president of the club who hurriedly stated that such a thing had never before happened in Shoreham. Naturally the men thought it was bashfulness on the part of the ladies, but we have it from one who knows—it was staged. Finally under the leadership of Mrs. Evelyn Miles, Mrs. Bunny Beatty, Mrs. Maxine Barnhart, and others the dance was soon under way and was enjoyed immensely.

Has Haskell a Jinx Following Him? Yes!

Has Haskell Norwood—Frei—a jinx following him? To date he has not as yet been able to enjoy the water,—the one thing here at Shoreham the children enjoy to the fullest. At first due to a vaccination for smallpox which was slow in healing, it was necessary for Haskell to only wade. A week ago while playing with a parachute, he fell from a tree and broke his left forearm, but still Haskell was not downed. He spent the past week-end in the usual manner of Shoreham children, except for the swimming. Monday morning Haskell awakened with a face twice its natural size. "Mumps," declared the doctor. Now Haskell is confined to his home for the next couple of weeks.

"Bon Voyage" at Old Field Club Promptly At Eight o'Clock

Show Under Direction Of Torrey McKenney and Richmond Campbell

FOUR SHOREHAMITES IN CAST

The Old Field Club will be the scene of much gayety and all-around entertainment tonight and tomorrow night. Every one sitting in the audience will be on a trip around the world. This will be made possible by the production of "World Tour Follies", the musical show being produced by the Charity League of the North Shore.

The musical review is under the direction of Mr. Torrey McKenney of New York City. Mr. McKenney directed the very successful as feresco musical comedy, "Who's Got Buttons" which was presented at the Oldfield Club three years ago. Mr. Richmond Campbell will again be musical director.

If the enthusiasm of the participants at rehearsals be a gauge, the show, which is to be presented for the benefit of the Mather Memorial Hospital, is the greatest amateur review ever produced in Suffolk County. The boys and girls, men and women in the cast have been rehearsing morning, noon and night under the watchful eyes of Mr. McKenney and Mr. Campbell. Besides dancing and singing there will be several skits. This show will be like a Broadway musical in tempo, costume and talent.

Shorehamites in the cast are Elise Marie Sherman, Gladys Koch, Lassie Zenke, and Bill Hoyt, who will play the piano.

The committees have been working wholeheartedly to make this show outstanding.

After the Saturday night performance there will be a dance.

As an innovation this year there will be a ship's store in charge of Mrs. Don Mason where donations from various merchants will be sold on shares to add to the profits.

The countries visited, the numbers and the leads of each scene are as follows:

- ACT I
- Scene 1—Hoboken—Mr. and Mrs. Attmore Robinson and chorus.
 - Scene 2—Elevator on shipboard—skit.
 - Scene 3—England—Mr. and Mrs. John Sinclair, dancing leads with chorus.
 - Scene 4—Netherlands—Dance done by a dancing group from St. James.
 - Scene 5—Switzerland—skit.
 - Scene 6—Russia—Walter Elchaker and Jean Grey with chorus.
 - Scene 8—France—Dr. McBrien, Attmore Robinson, Sidl Medd and Don Mason.
 - Scene 9—Gibraltar—Skit with Mr. Sheldrake.
 - Scene 10—Italy—Caroline Johnson and Winnard Redding, singers; Betty Ebert and Jackie Smythe, dancers.
 - Scene 11—Czechoslovakia—Three little fishes.
 - Scene 12—Rumania—Tumblers.
 - Scene 13—Congo—Miss Emory Stron, Attmore Robinson, Dick Reuter.

ACT II

- Scene 1—China—"Chinese Lullaby"—Mrs. Russel Strong and chorus.

This year there are many more babies between the age of three and six in Shoreham than have been in many years. When they are all on the beach in their yellow, blue, red and pink trunks and bathing suits, the beach takes the atmosphere of a nursery school. Each one of these many children has his own way of amusing the people who chance to be watching them. Some are cute, some quaint, some funny and some talkative and yet they are all independent, individual and lovable. Certain children like to wander far, others like to sit with the grown-ups, the majority like to play in the water. Many in safety belts, venture fearlessly. Whatever they do, they have the guiding eyes of their mother or nurse, and the eyes of the beachgoers following them. These children are adored by all in Shoreham.

One tike of the beach enjoys pouring water on would-be sleepers. It is done as a joke and is considered so by the recipient of the cold water. Another pair takes delight in their own private fights either of sand or hair-pulling which is carried on without a tear or word until the finish when each goes on play hours, shoving their playboats up and down in the water or sitting quietly in one of the boats awaiting expectedly some of the older children to take them for a ride. Even the eight-month-olds enjoy their daily ducking in the healthful salt water. Some sit patiently in the shade of the umbrellas, others in the open, protected by large sun glasses which makes them look very erudite, others play for hours in the sand and still others walk the beach, picking up stones and shells. There is hardly ever a cry from or a squabble among these cunning tikes. In fact, the beach would be fairly quiet if it were not for the mothers who call anxiously to find out what their young hopefuls are doing and tell them they mustn't.

At 5:30 it is a weary mother and a hungry child who hurry off the beach for home and supper, then to bed.

The father of one of these youngsters has written a most appropriate poem for this welcomed hour in a child's day:

TO THE LITTLE TOT

Your sleepy eyes are closed at last,
The weary day has joined the past,
So board the ship tranquility
and drift across the dreamer's sea
To far off castles on dreamy isles,
With fower banks of endless miles,
Sleep on my child, nighty-night to thee
But please sail back again—to me.

A. W. Barnhart.

Chick Chandler, who is featured in "Inside Story" which is to be shown at the Port Jefferson on Wednesday, July 26, is a nephew of Mrs. Carl W. Schultze, who is visiting her niece, Mrs. W. D. Van Arnham.

SHOREHAMITES

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McClelland of Summit, N. J., will be the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Pallister.

Commodore Pillscher returned this week from a cruise to Marthas Vineyard and Woods Hole on his yacht, Nebula.

Miss Elsie O'Keefe and Mr. R. W. Hagenbuck will be at the Barnharts this week-end.

Miss Eugenie Finn will sail Monday for Europe to visit France, England and Ireland, where she will sojourn the rest of the summer.

As guests of the Kochs will be Mrs. Ernest Wittnebel and Mr. Augustus Wittnebel of New Rochelle, and Mr. Carl Klincheck.

Mr. and Mrs. John Quincey Hunsicker III have issued invitations for cocktails Sunday noon.

Mrs. Sackett Entertains For Three Elderly People

Mrs. Arthur J. Sackett was the hostess at a luncheon of very interesting people Thursday at her lovely home. Her aunt, Mrs. John Dismukes, of St. Augustine, Fla., who is 91 years old, was the guest of honor. Mrs. Stevens, mother of Mr. Edward Stevens of Miller Place, formerly of Shoreham, who is 98 years old, and Mr. Charles Hopkins, Mrs. Sackett's father, who is 86 years old, were the other guests. It is interesting to note what different means of travel these people use to reach Shoreham. Mrs. Stevens traveled by train from Hampton, Va.; Mr. Hopkins motored from Richmond, Va.; while Mrs. Dismukes used the most recent mode of travel by flying from St. Augustine.

Rivalry Comes to Head Between Eagles and . . .

The traditional rivalry between the different clubs of Shoreham came to a climax during last week-end when the Eagles decided to bomb the hut boys with apples. In the skirmish which followed, Rene Laurencot suffered a few bruises on his forehead due to a headlong plunge from the Hughes' front porch.

Unsatisfied with what had happened the previous night, the undaunted Eagles challenged the Hut Crowd, Elves and Knights of the Red Garter, combined, to a water fight Sunday afternoon. After annoying them with stones and sand for about 15 minutes, the Eagles' enemies decided to act. And act they did! The finish of the fray found nearly all the Eagles tied up in a bundle.

Still not content with the outcome of the previous days, the Eagles challenged the Hut Crowd, Elves and Knights of the "Yellow" Garter to a fight on the big raft this coming week-end.

Owners of "Tripe III" Accused of Forgery

As you already know, George Beatty has a boat which he has named "Tripe III, and if you read last week's Shoreham Sounder you also know that Jim Brandon and Harry Laurencot have a barge that they have named "Tripe III." So you can well understand that when George Beatty read about the launching of the "Tripe III" he was a bit griped. He reached for the phone and dialed Jim Brandon's number. The conversation went something like this:

"Hello, is this Jim Brandon?"
"Yes," came a small voice from the other end of the wire.

"Are you one of the owners of the 'Tripe III'?"

"Yes," said "Dead Pan" Brandon, as George called him throughout the entire conversation.

"Well I'm going to put you in jail. I'm coming down with the Sheriff from Riverhead and have 'em arrest you."

"I will be ready for both of you," said "Dead Pan."

"Oh, you will," said George. "Who do you think is talking?"

"Mr. Sherman," said Jim very seriously.

"Well, you're wrong, try again."

"George Beatty," came the reply.

"That's better," said George, "but don't forget I'm going to have you arrested for using the name 'Tripe' without my permission."

"Well, we'll settle this thing," Jim said. "I challenge you to a fight on the big raft at 2:30 Sunday afternoon."

Both agreed to this, and then they hung up.

Sunday afternoon Jim was waiting on the raft for George, but he would not go out unless someone would row him there, so the fight was called off. Nothing more happened after that, and everybody concerned is living happily after.

Gardener's Calendar for Fourth Week in July

About this time of year, when the weeds seem to thrive in spite of any handicap that Nature can invent to retard growth—when the bugs and diseases are legion, and the weather generally uncomfortable, there is a marked tendency to "just give it all up for this season, anyway; perhaps things will be different next year."

As the greatest garden joy in January is looking over the new catalogues, and making lists of seeds we will probably never order, so, in July and August, the most enjoyable variety of gardening is to sit in a comfortable chair and plan that garden which will withstand all the known hazards and look flourishing and unweeded all through this trying season.

Some of us have the good fortune to have a garden contact all through the year—some of us have such a strong love for our garden that, although duty calls us far away early in the fall and keeps us away all spring, we are drawn back to the garden at every week-end we can manage to get there—others have a very short time to enjoy their garden—just the summer months—and for such people, a list of plant material which has its blooming period in July and August will be published in a later edition of the Sounder. No annuals are included. This list will include only plants that will, if given the proper environment and nourishment, come up, grow and bloom year after year without anything more than enough cultivation to keep them in order until, after a number of years, the border may become so crowded that they will need to be dug up, divided and reset. The list will include flowering shrubs, vines, lilies and perennial plants, enough to give some bloom at all times during the summer.

FAMOUS STORY

The famous story of the Great Northwest in the making, "Susannah of the Mounties," comes to the Port Jefferson Theatre on Sunday. Starring Shirley Temple in the title role, the film depicts the struggle between the Indians and the Canadian Mounties at the time the Canadian Pacific Railroad was pushing through to the west coast.

Loper Brothers Are Celebrating 50th Year

ders a complete service, capable of supplying any and all requirements. True to their ancestors, the New Englanders, Loper Bros. have never sacrificed quality for price. They have frequently sacrificed profit; they have seen business go to other firms, simply because they would not sell inferior material that would give dissatisfaction.

There is hardly any matter affecting building upon which Loper Bros. can not give complete, competent counsel and assistance. They maintain a plan department with an almost endless number of designs by eminent architects to choose from. They boast that some of their warmest friends have been created through helpful aid and assistance in securing summer type of construction. Loper Bros. carry a very full line of all kinds of materials and for a number of years have been making a specialty of financing small homes on easy terms of payments.

At present they have the main yard and office at Port Jefferson Station, while there is a planing mill on Surf avenue, Port Jefferson, to do special mill work. They have 11 trucks and 25 employees. The hardware store on Main street, Port Jefferson, is under the management of Mr. Theodore A. Nodell; the Rocky Point branch is in charge of Mr. Horace Garris.

The success of a concern is usually the reflection of the men who compose its management. The four men who compose the active management of the Loper Bros. Lumber Co. are Mr. Arthur G. Loper, president; Mr. Carroll M. Loper, vice president; Mr. Gilbert J. Loper, treasurer, and Mr. Robert G. Swenk secretary, who is in charge of office administration and finance.

As head of the Roadside Committee of the Shoreham Garden Club, Mrs. Sadie Robinson is untiring in maintaining a tidy and well kept road entering our village. With the cooperation of Mr. Harold F. Davis, Superintendent of Highways of Brookhaven Township, she has been able to have all the dead limbs and branches of trees removed from the roadside, and the tall grass cut back several feet on both sides with no expense to the village or the garden club. Each week men are employed to keep Woodville Road in this perfect condition.

Notes

The dance at the Shoreham Country Club will be a "Black and White" dance. It is hoped that everyone will dress in these colors. Also at this dance there will be a Question Box. If anybody who can or will submit a question, together with the correct answer, to Mr. George Beatty before six o'clock Saturday night, it will be greatly appreciated. These questions may be questions on any subject, to be answered in full or in part. Candidates for the experts to answer the questions are Mrs. Ivy Lee Callender, Miss Barbara Davis, Mrs. Hetty Finn, Mr. Jack Brandon, Mr. Sheldon DuCret, Mr. Randall Warden Sr., Mr. Donald Upham, Mr. John Bates, Mr. Jack Hunsicker, Dr. Max Finn and Mr. Bob Oliver.

The song service this Sunday night will be led by Mr. Robert Oliver. For those who don't know, the service begins at 8 o'clock and is open to every one in Shoreham regardless of creed. Last Sunday night a chorus composed of Sue Miles, Louise Glynn, Jean, Barbara and Esther Sarkany, Pat and Bud Sherman, Eddie Barnhart, Rene Laurecot, Jimmy Brandon and Ed Dinnsen, sang. This chorus was organized by Mrs. John Bates and Miss Cornelia-Jane Van Arnam.

The flowers at the club this weekend will be arranged by Mrs. Randall Warden.

Last Monday night there was a movie show at the club which included three shorts and a full length picture, "Transatlantic Tunnel." It is not certain whether there will be a similar show this Monday, but plans are underway. This is also open to everybody in Shoreham.

Saturday night, July 29, it is hoped that there will be a most interesting illustrated lecture by an Arctic explorer. This explorer is Major Simmonds, a retired United States army officer, who will be remembered as having been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Brandon last year. Watch next week's Sounder for further details.

Saturday	4:19	5:00
Sunday	5:32	6:11
Monday	6:48	7:20
Tuesday	7:54	8:21
Wednesday	8:55	9:18
Thursday	9:50	10:09
Friday	10:38	10:57

These tides were obtained from Wally Bull, Port Jefferson. Low tides are obtained by subtracting six hours from high tides. Tides at Shoreham are within half an hour of these at Port.

Dogs are not allowed on the beach except when held on leash and restrained from annoying any person or persons on the beach.
