Garden Club to Hear Lecture On 'Garden Lighting' Tonight

Pallister Garden to Be Illuminated by L. I. Lighting Company

Tonight a lecture and demonstration on "Garden Lighting" will be given by the Long Island Lighting Co. in the garden of Mrs. C. V. Pallister in Shoreham. Mrs. E. W. Oliver, who made the arrangements for this program, announced that Mrs. Marjorie P. Wardman will deliver the lecture while men from the lighting company manage the illumination. Refreshments will follow the lecture, and people craving more information about garden lighting will have a chance to talk with Mrs. Wardman. The refreshments are in charge of Mrs. Laurencot and Mrs. James Glynn, assisted by the Misses Janet and Ann Waters, Barbara Davis, Leanora Hopkins and Jane and Peggy McGahan.

Every member of the Shoreham Garden Club is requested to come, and to bring her husband, guests and friends. The program is scheduled to start 8:30 p. m.

Damage Done to Lighting Company Placed at $500,000

It is estimated that the damage done by the hurricane and tidal wave last September which swept over the Island cost the Long Island Lighting Co. $500,000. Mr. Edward F. Barrett, president of the company, said that the direct cost of the damage was in excess of $250,000. He estimated the loss of revenue while electric lines were out of service at $80,000.

Power lines, services, street lighting fixtures, substations, gas mains and services were damaged; more than 100 motors, driving pumps and other auxiliary equipment were submerged; and more than 1,000 poles had to be replaced or reset. Nearly all commercial and residential service was restored in Nassau County, and more than 85 per cent in Suffolk County within four days.

Three Parties This Week Supply Entertainment For the Young Folks

The Glynn's entertained 21 children at their home last Saturday night. Comic moving pictures were shown by Mr. Glynn, who together with his guests made the pictures more realistic by the making of sound effects. Ice cream and candy were served before the crowd went home.

Mrs. Arthur J. Sackett was hostess Monday afternoon to a number of friends in honor of her daughter, Louise. The occasion was the fifth birthday of the honoree.

During the afternoon the children played games and received numerous trinkets from their hostess. Later they were served cake, ice cream and milk at a prettily ap-

RCA Transmitting Station at Rocky Point Largest in the World

Many people riding along Route 25A have read the sign, "R C A Transmitting Station, Rocky Point, L. I." Very few of these people know that the largest transmitting station in the world is located here. From Rocky Point, which is next to Shoreham, communications by radio transmission are sent to all parts of the world. Radio transmission of messages assumed a dominant position in foreign communications, and where speed, accuracy, and high quality service are demanded, business houses are depending more and more on radio to do this sort of work.

Although most of the transmitting done at Rocky Point is, in the radio transmission line, it is only natural that the vast knowledge and facilities acquired by the R. C. A. Communications, Inc., in the radio telegraphic field could be utilized to advantage in allied fields. Of these new applications RCA photoradio service, radio telephony, and the transmission of overseas radio program material to and from foreign countries are speedily acquiring an important commercial value.

Photogram service or pictorial radio transmission is a fascinating subject. Years of careful and constant engineering research and achievements have made this invaluable service possible. This is one of the allied services transmitted from Rocky Point.

Telephone conversations carried over the facilities of the RCA plant in conjunction with operation telephone companies, are now linking various countries with the magic of the spoken word and adding an intimate personal touch to international communications. RCA also has a domestic communications service.

RCA transoceanic radio circuits are capable of carrying song or speech with uncanny fidelity and any broadcasting studios in this country may deliver its messages by word or music to the far ends of the world. These programs are then broadcast locally to vast audiences thousands of miles from the point of origin, at the same instant it is heard in this country. This is known as program transmission service.

The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. occupies a corner of the RCA building. The AT&T's New York to London circuit is located here.

The property owned by the RCA Corp. in Rocky Point is approximately 6,000 acres. On this property are located the main building, sub stations, the 80 odd antennae and a community center. There is an operating staff of 70 who cares for the entire setup, of which Mr. Clifton is chief engineer, and Mr. Strausberger of Shoreham, assistant.

Two Features to Be Attraction At Country Club Tomorrow

DISGRUNTLED CAR

It seems that Mrs. Brandon's car has gotten weary of taking the corners in Shoreham. Wanting to cut a direct path from its mistress' driveway to Woodville road, the car started out. Having successfully plowed through the high bushes at the back of the Dove and Turtle property, the car struck a pole and was forced to call a halt to its project.

String Ensemble to Play at the Sunday Night Song Service

At the song service this Sunday at 8 p. m. at the clubhouse, a half hour's program of instrumental music will be presented by an 18-piece string ensemble, Mrs. John Bates, chairman of the club's song service committee, announced today.

Arranged by Mrs. Geysa Sarkany, who is in charge of the music at the services, the program will include classical and religious selections appropriate to the occasion. This ensemble is under the direction of Mr. Godfrey Kritzler, and Mr. Philip Teleman will be the 'cello soloist. The leader of the remainder of the service will be Mr. John W. Haslett, president of the club.

Police Regulations Regarding Village Beach and Motor Vehicles

It has been requested by the trustees of the Village of Shoreham that the Shoreham Sounder publish the police regulations for the village and the beach. These regulations have not been published for two years, and it is requested that each member of the community read them thoroughly and abide thereby for from now on they will be strictly enforced by the village police, of which Mr. Wesley J. Sherman is chief, Frank Woodfield, day officer, and Erik Lyberg, night officer.

Police Regulations Affecting Motor Vehicles

Village streets are narrow, and sidewalks are not generally available for pedestrians. Automobiles, trucks, motorcycles and other motor vehicles of all kinds must be operated with extreme caution at all times, especially when approaching or passing pedestrians or passing other vehicles. No reckless or careless driving will be tolerated.

An ordinance now in effect, limits the speed of motor vehicles to twenty miles per hour on village streets. Enforcement of this ordinance, by the Village Police, is required.

Riding on the running-boards, fenders or bumpers of motor vehicles is risky and creates a serious accident hazard; our citizens and guests are requested to refrain from participating in or permitting this practice on their automobiles.

Major A. P. Simmonds To Give Lecture on "Across the Labrador"

Half-Hour Show to Be Given by the Cast of "World Tour Follies"

Major A. P. Simmonds will give an illustrated talk at the Shoreham Country Club this Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock, entitled "Across the Labrador". Major Simmonds, a retired United States Army officer, has made 16 trips to the far north, three of them above the Arctic Circle. He has canoed thousands of miles on unknown rivers and sledged over great frozen wastes. In fact he has been farther into the great unknown Ungava than any other white man, and has had many thrilling and narrow escapes. On his last trip two of his party of four lost their lives, and he himself was finally rescued by some Eskimos on the George River. Major Simmonds tells of these thrilling and narrow escapes in this lecture in a easy and inimitable manner, and illustrates them by views taken by himself and his companions.

This lecture has been delivered many times under the auspices of the National Geographic Society, and it is through the courtesy of Mr. John Brandon that Major Simmonds will lecture at the Shoreham Country Club.

This lecture is open to everybody, whether they plan to attend the dance or not.

The second feature of the evening will be a special program of entertainment procured by Mrs. Alfred W. Varian, chairman of the entertainment committee. By arrangement with the cast of "World Tour Follies," which played at Oldfield Country Club for the benefit of the Mather Hospital, and in which numerous Shorehamites participated, a half hour condensation of the show will take place at 11:30. The program will be as follows:

David Coyle, specialty dance; Theodore Maddock, songs; Melanie Gerard, songs; Poppy Westons, songs, accompanied by Mrs. H. Etchaeker at the piano; Jacqueline Hoyt, playing piano; Jacqueline Smythe, blue songs, and others to be announced later.

Although it was announced that Shoreham's postponed "Information Please" would take place at this time, it has again been postponed until August 5, when local savants will be called upon to answer questions submitted by club members.

Three Village Garden Club to Hold Show

The Three Village Garden Club will hold its annual flower show at the Oldfield Club, Stony Brook, L. I., Saturday, July 29, from 2-10 p. m. Members of the Shoreham Garden Club are cordially invited to attend this display of flowers on the theme, "Time in its Flight Told with Flowers".

It seems that a good many editorials appearing in the Shoreham Sounder have been pleas to participate in or criticisms of things going on in Shoreham. Some people take the attitude that the editorial staff of the Sounder is trying to run the social functions of Shoreham. However, they are quite mistaken. One way to bring necessary things to the attention of the people is through this paper, and this is known by most people. People in charge of different activities have politely asked the staff to touch upon their particular interests in its editorials. The editorial staff has consented to and will always do this in the hope that it will bring results. However, we do not want to be considered disgruntled editors.

This year as in years before, the Sunday night song services have not been very well attended. The person in charge of these services is doing all she can to arrange special and interesting features. A choir composed of the youngsters of Shoreham has been formed and has sung at the last few services. However, this does not seem to be a big enough attraction because few people attend. People should not have to be attracted to this service because it should be regarded as a peaceful and fitting way to end a busy and rather mad, dashing week-end. It is only right that a community like Shoreham set aside some time for the remembrance of the One who makes all things possible. In a short talk at one of the song services last year, a well-known Shoreham resident said that Sunday evening song services in Shoreham are unique in this day and age. He also said that this nation was founded on the basis of religious liberty and early colonists met together in small groups in the first settlements to give praise and thanks to God—for the same reason we go to song services. Even though the attendance be small, Christ will be in our midst. Therefore we can feel that our meetings are sincere and purposeful. Nevertheless, a larger gathering should be seen at these services. Why? A reason is summed up in a quotation from the same man mentioned above, "As a business man working all week in the city, enjoying the week-ends here in Shoreham, I do not know of any more satisfying moments in the whole week than the few spent here at these services on Sunday evening. The brotherly spirit, the enjoyable singing, the word of prayer and responsive reading, and the lingering for a short time afterwards to meet and chat for a moment with those about us, the cordial handshakes and greetings, give an inspiration as nothing else can for the return to the city and another week's work."

This Sunday night a string ensemble of 18 pieces will render a few selections. The lady who made it possible for this ensemble to be here said that they will not play if there is too small a crowd.

This is a good opportunity for the stay-at-homes to sample the peacefulness of the Sunday night song services. As has been said previously, these services are open to each and every one in Shoreham—regardless of creed.

SHOREHAM—AFTER 6 YEARS

The same lovely trees and flowers, the same blue Sound, the same wonderful climate, and the same friendliness among the people—all this is Shoreham. However, after six years one does expect to see a few changes. Among these are the newly decorated clubhouse (really quite too, too new), the tennis courts, the improved beach front, and a new raft. All the properties seem to be better cared for. There are no more unoccupied houses with unkempt and overgrown yards. The roadsides are tidier and trimmer—all giving an air of peace and prosperity.

It's nice to find the new things and it's nice to progress but the nicest part of all is the same casual air of deep enjoyment and relaxation which will be ever new and yet as old as the hills in little tucked-in Shoreham.

WADING RIVER

The parish of St. John's Church, this village, will hold its annual bazaar and dance on Saturday evening, August 5, at 8 p. m. in the gymnasium of the Wading River public school. The committee is doing everything possible to make the occasion the grand success that it was last year and has been in previous years. It is for the benefit of the church. All who attend are promised a real good time with prizes added to the fun all will enjoy.

The annual meeting of the Wading River Civic Association will be held at 8 p. m. Friday, July 28, in the schoolhouse. The most important event at this meeting will be the election of officers for the year 1939-1940. This is also the only meeting during the year at which amendments to the constitution and by-laws can be voted on. During the past year, the association has continued its policy of making known the needs of Wading River village and securing the cooperation of state, county and town officials. The association has been largely responsible for having a blinker light installed at the intersection of the Manor road and

Gardener's Calendar for Late July

Flowers in pots or tubs, set in places where they will add to the decorative scheme near the house, are useful at this time of year. They detract attention from the garden and the woeful lack of bloom in the beds, if bloom is lacking and add a gay touch of color. They must be kept well watered and all blooms removed as soon as they fade. I have found that occasional feeding of potted plants by placing them in a pan of the nutrient solution used for seed germination in the spring is a help toward good appearance. I will gladly help anyone who wishes to make some of this solution (it is not hard or dirty work). You will need a six-gallon crock or an old wash boiler to begin with.

Muggy days are sure to bring mildew to rose foliage. Dust or spray before rains and be sure to reach the under side of the leaves. Give the roses their last feeding of the year now.

Flowers for the house are best cut in the early morning, while they are fresh from the night coolness. Take a pail of water with you, immerse the stems immediately and do not crowd the flowers in the pail.

Seeds of biennials and pansies may be planted at this time for good results. The fresher the seed the better the results of germination.

Many kinds of perennials, alpine plants, clematis and iris are best planted in the autumn and exposed to the elements over winter. Study catalogues during this trying weather and select those you will want to try.

Do you know that iris has been improved to a greater extent than any other familiar flower in recent years, and do you know that two famous iris hybridizers live on Long Island, and that there is an iris distributing firm on Long Island that handles just about every known form of iris? Do you know that you can have iris in bloom all summer long by planting the following varieties:

Iris Reticulata, blooms in March; miniature iris, blooms in April; aristocrats and tall bearded iris bloom in May; Siberian and tall bearded iris bloom in June; Japanese iris blooms in July; Iris Dichotoma blooms in August; autumn flowering bearded iris blooms in September and October.

AT THE PORT THEATRE

Affording a happy variation from the more serious problems of life, "Bridal Suite" gleefully zanies its way to the screen of the Port Jefferson Theatre Sunday and Monday. The heartbeats in the picture are Annabella and Robert Young, teamed for the first time. Chief supporting funmakers are Walter Connolly, Reginald Owen, Gene Lockhart, Arthur Treacher and Billie Burke.

In the story Robert Young is rushed off to Switzerland by his fluttery mother, Billie Burke, to be cured of forgetfulness so that he may in future remember such trifles as his wedding date. But while being treated for his head by Connolly, he loses his heart to Annabella, manageress of the Swiss inn. The result is a series of daffy complications whirling from breath-taking adventures in the Alpine heights to free-for-all fights aboard a transatlantic liner, with true love winning in the end.

With Annabella and Robert Young in their best romantic-comedy form, the picture romps to its side-splitting climax with such additional players as Virginia Field and Felix Bressart. The picture has been spiritedly directed by William Thiele.

pointed-table. The table was set in a pink and blue motif.

In the center of the table stood a large pink doll, and at either end stood a blue and a pink balloon rabbit. Balloons were also suspended from the ceiling as decoration.

The ice cream was molded in the form of animals and the birthday cake beautifully labeled with pink figures and flowers.

Louise received many lovely gifts from her little friends who included Ellen Varian, Lorraine Laurencot, Ellen Pirrini, Sally Bates, Pat Seaman, Elise Glynn, Prudy Hawkins of St. Augustine and John Miles, Quincy Hunsicker, Punchies Barnhart, Jimmy Glynn, Mickey Glynn, Christopher Birch and Geysa Sarkany.

Miss Jantzer held her mid-week dancing class as usual on Wednesday night. The party which followed was under the direction of Mrs. Wesley J. Sherman, assisted by Mrs. James Glynn and Miss Peggy Brandon. Prizes were awarded to Jimmy Brandon, who won the mat dance, to Harry Laurencot, who won "Going to Jerusalem", and to Nancy Thurber and Pat Sherman, who won the spotlight dance. As an innovation this week, there was a pingpong ball blowing contest, which was won by Buddy Sherman's team.

 Help promote our safety on Village streets, observe these regulations and encourage others to do so. Your safety is involved fully as much as that of any one else in the village.
 Property owners are urged to comply with earlier requests of the Board of Trustees to keep shrubbery trimmed low enough to permit drivers of motor vehicles to have a clear view of all street corners and intersections, at all times.

"San Francisco" Is Revived at Port Theatre

On Thursday and Friday the Port Jefferson Theatre is reviving that unforgettable musical drama, "San Francisco," starring Clark Gable, Jeanette MacDonald and Spencer Tracy. Those who have seen the picture are well aware of the entertainment and suspense which the picture holds and for those who may have missed it before, we can only say "Don't miss it again" as it is without question the greatest package of cinema entertainment ever to grace the screen of any theatre.
